The Global Markets Fund advanced 45.49% in October to bring the YTD return to 85.43%. Market conditions deteriorated spectacularly during early October with a sharp increase in volatility levels and several commodity and equity markets trading at new multi-year lows. Our non-discretionary system seeks to identify long-term trends and avoid trading on 'noise'. In particular, when volatility rises, the system employs wider stops and this policy allowed us to generate significant gains across all sectors during the month.
